Keynote Speakers

Dr Sara Gehlin is a senior lecturer at University College Stockholm. Her research concerns the issues of ecumenical peacebuilding, interfaith and ecumenical dialogue, the history of the ecumenical movement, religion and conflict resolution, and the intersection of feminist- and peace theology. Since 2015, Sara is a consultant in the WCCs' Commission on Education and Ecumenical Formation.

Rev Dr George Tsourous is a social anthropologist and an Associate Fellow at the Centre of Ethnographic Studies in the University of Kent in the UK. His research, funded by the British Academy, involved the investigation of the socio-cultural relationships between the diverse Christian communities of Jerusalem. His research interests also include Christian-Muslim interaction and the impact of pilgrimage, in shared sacred spaces.

What is ERF?

Ecumenical Research Forum (ERF) was founded in Germany in 1988. ERF is primarily aimed at young researchers. It is an open international forum for all who are engaged in academic research and interested in its ecumenical dimensions. ERF aims at facilitating an encounter for presenting your research projects and exchanging ideas regarding ecumenism, missiology and challenges the churches are facing in the contemporary world.

Registration

The participation fee of 80€ (Students 50€) includes meals and lodging at the Mission Academy. [www.a oef- erf.org](http://www.a oef- erf.org)
